1. What if the last time I went to school it was hard for me and I didn't do very well?

Our programs are very hands on and you spend a considerable amount of your course time actually practicing the skills that will be required of you in your new career. There are no fluff classes in our programs, so all of the classes you take will be specific to your career. Our class sizes are small so you get personalized attention and one-on-one time with your instructors. Additionally, if you are struggling with certain parts of the curriculum, we have tutoring available. So even if school was a challenge for you in the past, our programs are specifically designed for your success.

2. What if I go back to school to start a new career and I can't find a job in the field I studied?

All of our programs come with career placement support. We will help you write your resume, practice for interviews, and apply for jobs. We even have contacts and partnerships with some companies hiring students just like you. All of our programs offer careers with high demand jobs. Plus you get all this support for the life of your new career—if you need to find a new job 5 years down the road, you can come back to us and we will assist you with your job search.

3. What if I just don't have time to go back to school?

If this is a point of concern for you we have good news: most of our programs can be completed in less than a year. In fact, some of our programs can be completed in as little as nine months. Additionally, we offer day and evening classes so you can work while studying for your new career.

4. What if the school doesn't care if I finish the program and get a job?

Your success is our success. We actually really care about you finishing your training and getting a job. We hold ourselves to high standards because we care about our excellence and reputation as an institution. Additionally, we are evaluated by outside agencies that are recognized by the US Department of Education. Our programs are not only reviewed for quality of curriculum but also for our instructors, facility, equipment and training outcomes.

5. What if I can't go back to school because I can't afford it?

Being a nationally accredited institution allows us to offer federal financial aid to those who qualify. Our Financial Aid Advisors will help walk you through the process to determine how much you may be eligible for based on your need. The funding is not based on your credit, so even if you have bad credit you may still be eligible for financial assistance.

Now that you know these important facts, you are ready to succeed in school and start a better life with a meaningful career.
